STORY INFORMATION PRIOR TO ITS BEING ENACTED ON ICE

Our story is of the village of Brigadoon, a little town in the Scottish Highlands, where an old Minister of the Kirk, because of the changing world, feared his people would be taken away from the teaching of God, and so one night he went into the forest and prayed that Brigadoon and all its people would vanish from the face of the earth, and to appear again one day in every hundred years so that his people would never be in any one century long enough to be touched by it. And so it was—one hundred years later it awakened and lived again the one day the same as it had before, with everyone living their customary lives and going along as if only one day had elapsed since the miracle. Our story starts with two American hunters lost in the Scottish Highlands, stumbling into Brigadoon on this, the second day (200 years later) of its awakening.
